

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. I.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1882.

NO. 74.

Snow in Louisville Tuesday.

Gass & Hanly received 50 wagon loads of corn Saturday by noon.

They say that Armstrong Bros' Minstrels are simply immense.

The K. C. has down a new side-track where our old depot stood.

Ed. Marshall formerly of Ky., was elected Attorney General of California.

There are double as many cases of small-pox now in Cincinnati, as there were at this time last year.

Small-pox is so bad at Gallatin, Tenn., that the City Council of Franklin, Ky., has quarantined against it.

Green Keller threatens to run for Congress in the 9th district and redeem it, providing no one else will.

An enricher of the blood and purifier of the system; cures lassitude and lack of energy; such is Brown's Iron Bitters.

Kentucky had better buy the Granite State, instead of paying $500 damages for five bullet holes in the side of the boat.

The Alice Oates Opera Company will shortly appear at Old Fellows' Hall in the favorite "Mascotte," on December 1st.

The last tunnel on the K. C. extension is about completed, the road is ready for the ties, and the cars will soon run into Richmond.

In Lexington 1,200 white and 900 colored school children are enrolled, the average daily attendance of whites 900 and colored 500.

A black man with nine-pounds ripe live 'possum, formed a happy, good natured, grinning couple going down street the other day.

Mayville, Winchester and other points are forming new military companies. Winchester wants all of her men six feet high.

Capt. KIRKER, of the steamer Granite State, has put in a bill of $1,000 for transportation of the St. Guards and 'lances' to his boat.

It's about time for the season of all the Democratic chickens to quit crowing and come home to cackling, and put down the price of eggs.

An invaluable strengthening for the nerves, muscles, and digestive organs, producing strength and appetite, is Brown's Iron Bitters.

Herley, the Embroid Guard of Mayville, died of his wound in the leg at Ashland. He was accidentally wounded by letting his pistol fall. Gangrene in the wound caused his death.

Mr. INGALLS, president of the K. C. road, says he will make Paris a larger town than Lexington after a short while. He wants our citizens to donate four or five acres of land for machine shops.

See advertisement of $10,000 worth of gold and silver jewelry at assignee's sale of the New York Jewelry Co. These goods are no sham, and will be sold on approbation—"you no like 'em, you no take 'em."

DECALOMANIE of silk transfer pictures, Foster & Sanders, such as durable and handsome as hand painting, and a child can transfer them. Call and examine them. We make no charge for instructions.

The Kentucky Central railroad was fined $100 by the Circuit Court for obstructing travel on Main street in Winchester. The Big Sandy was fined one cent and costs on a similar charge. Why such a difference?

At the reunion of Morgan's command at Lexington Monday, about 150 of the boys marched through the hall of the residence of Mrs. Morgan, and shook the hand of the mother of the general, and received a "God bless you," while great tears stood in her eyes.

Mrs. KIRBY, who has long been an invalid, has so far regained health as to be able to set up in business again. She is now agent for Moody's new system of dress cutting for ladies and children's garments. Her rooms are at Mrs. Dohers, on High Street.

Where you go to Cincinnati, stop at the Crawford House. It is located on 6th and Walnut, convenient to business, and is the general headquarters for the Kentucky trade. Fare, $2 per day. You get comfortable accommodations, and don't have to pay for any undue agony.

The Armstrong Bros' Minstrels are billed for Old Fellows' Hall Monday night. This troupe consists of 25 members, and is said to be equal to that of Mill Barlow's or any other troupe on the road. The burning of the Frankfort Opera House threw this troupe out a night; hence their advent into so small a place.

The "Merry Pathfinders."

Partly in way of retaliation for an invective and disapprobation shown the News by the Advance Agent of the above troupe, and partly judging it by the last several preceding it, we were led to do an injustice in our last Tuesday's issue. We attended their entertainment Wednesday evening, and we are candid in our confession that it was the funniest entertainment on the boards here this season. Indeed, it was very chaste and select all the way through, and the "Scamps" were gleaned from high literature.

In further condemnation of the Advance Agent and justification to the troupe, the managers confessed to us that their shallow brained man had made false returns of having extended courtesies to the three city papers alike; thus showing that he had been wrought upon by some malicious and cowardly scoundrel who had not the nerve to approach the News as a brave man and a gentleman for the adjustment of his wrongs.

While we were probably wrong to a certain extent in assailing the troupe in order to gaff the man who first gaffed us, we deemed it the only speedy and available way in bringing the matter to the management in a forcible and effective manner.

There may not be much Christianity in our little motto: "You gaff me, and I'll gaff you," but then there's a principle in it that is liable to bring down upon a certain amount of justice and courtesy that is due from man to man.

"Strictly Business."

What Mark Twain has done with his "Tramp" and "Innocent," Gunter has, to some extent, condensed into his "Fresh" and "Strictly Business." The dramas are evidently fashioned from the same hand, and many of the situations spring from the same inspiration. Those who have read William Black's excellent novel, "Sensations," will realize in the Nihilistic plots and entanglements of "Strictly Business," a capital burlesque. Bishop as Phineas P. Furbish is of course the central figure. He is a big reservoir of fun with a countenance which has his fortune in any climate. An American drummer when trincinole had ruined, whom Nihilism had entangled and whom marriage had wholly upset. Bishop was indelicately named. His wife never dreamed even under a combination of evils which would have swamped any lively fellow an irrepressible Yankee he lives to retrieve his good luck, and a brilliant spouse. The play leaves him in a blissful state of condensed milk with the best end of a revolver. The jewelry man across the street never did get his $1.25 for the paste diamond car rings which he sold her.

Bourbon County Court of Claims.

The Magistrates of the County sit in Court of Claims session Wednesday, and in addition to awarding the stated salaries to the County officers and allowing the small claims, such as working roads, &c., transacted the following business: Donated $2800 to each of the bridges across Hinkston at Young's and Fishback's fords, and $500 to the bridge across Brown's Lick, on the Flat Rock and Caldwell's Mill pike, and levied an assessment of 1 cent on the County lists for same.

The Doctors Fithian, of Paris, were awarded the contract for furnishing medical treatment and medicines for the paupers, at $450 per annum.

Dr. J. W. Righter, of Riddles Mills, physician to the paupers of Riddles Mills and the Poor House, at $200 per annum.

Dr. S. W. Brown, physician to the paupers of North Middleton, at $100 per annum.

Henry Spears was elected County Treasurer.

Will Myall was elected School Commissioner over Prof. W. H. Lockhart, the present incumbent, on a vote of 9 to 7, and Squire Amos Jamison, of the Millersburg precinct, elected Turpin County Commissioner over Frank B. Kennedy, the present incumbent, by a vote of 9 to 7. The Court also stood 9 to 7 against abolishing the latter office.

Dr. T. C. Herndon, one of Nicholas county's most valued citizens, has been ill for several days, but the prospect of his recovery are now favorable.

Col. Craddock, of the True Kentuckian, has been suffering a slight attack from pleurisy, caused by the sudden change in the weather.

John Bercher, of Fleming county, fell from the steamer Morning Mail at Mayville while drunk, and was drowned, Tuesday morning.

It is now reported that Badge Hurling sold that mare to a nigger, for a string of fish, on an unlimited credit.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

Kentucky has 208 newspapers. General Butler is sixty-four years of age.

"Who-a-thought-it" is the name of a new railroad town in Georgia.

Costs nothing to be polite, but it comes rather high sometimes, but not so high as the cost of being impolite.

Henry Clay, formerly of this city, has fallen back from St. Louis, to a position in Louisville.

Joe Blackburn is billed for a bird and rabbit hunt in Harrison county, on Thanksgiving day.

"Ep" is the name of a postoffice in Owen county, and "O. K." the name of one in Lincoln county.

New dresses have to be worn slightly elevated to show those beautiful scarlet embroidered balmors.

Short-waisted and long-tailed overcoats are to be the style among the too utter swells the coming season.

When the male brute who browbeats his wife when they are in company is generally afraid to open his mouth when they are alone.

Mrs. Ben Ingels, of Oakland Mills, formerly a member of the Presbyterian Church, was immersed into the Christian Church faith here last Sunday.

Something new in teapots is dark blue majolica inlaid with gold and having a heavy gold rope for a handle. It is a great success as a table ornament.

A Brazilian has arrived in the South with twenty-two ostriches, and will run an ostrich farm. The birds are worth $1,000 each. By raising the feathers here, a duty of 20 per cent. is saved.

A new floral invention for this season's wedding receptions, says a Boston paper, is a four-leaf clover in violets and roses with the initials of the bride and bridegroom. It must hang before a mirror.

Rev. E. M. McMillen will not preach in Falmouth as he announced to his congregation last Sabbath, but will fill his bill his own pulp it next Sabbath morning and evening.

During the coming winter, it has been calculated that 3,000 old nudes will recite an original piece of poetry, entitled "Lips that touch liquor shall never meet mine," at different temperance meetings in the Union.

A chambermaid in a country hotel in Pennsylvania, attempted to drive a nail with the butt end of a revolver. The jewelry man across the street never did get his $1.25 for the paste diamond car rings which he sold her.

MILLERSBURG.

Linnie, daughter of Joe T. Batson, died of diphtheria, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Charlie Turner, of near Millersburg, has taken board with Mrs. John Gass, who is now running the Ireland boarding house. Mrs. Turner is receiving medical treatment from Dr. Vansant.

Wm. Davis has decided not to run his distillery here this season, on account of there being already too much whiskey in the country. He looks for legislation in the next Congress for the relief of whiskey men.

"Uncle" Dan Smith has returned home, after a six weeks' visit to the country. His friends were all glad to see him at a great distance. He had been waiting on the Hughes and Fishback families who had the small-pox on upper Illinois.

"Elihu" Ashbrick, well-known in this town in ante bellum days, has been arrested in Cincinnati by the firm of J. K. Clark & Co., for which he was book-keeper. It appears that in overhauling the books, a forced balance with $65 shortage was made in April. Ashbrook admits the shortage, but denies the appropriation of the money, and says that he cannot account for it. In default of $500, he was committed to jail.

The Supreme Court has decided that a horse race is not a game, and persons engaged in it cannot be indicted under the gaming law.

W. H. Wilson, Cynthia's, K. has purchased the pediculous watch-smasher, Joe Ray. Joe is a bay gelding, with a record of 2:23.

At C. F. Scott's sale of short-horns near North Middleton Wednesday, 31 Young Mary Females averaged $86, and aggregated $2,065. Three males aggregated $235.

The Trader, Turfman, Farmer and Sportsman.

Hunters are now in the field, and report game tolerably plentiful.

Billy Caldwell, of near Moorefield, sold to Dr. Tilton, of Carlisle, Missouri, an Alderney heifer for $100.

The Supreme Court has decided that a horse race is not a game, and persons engaged in it cannot be indicted under the gaming law.

W. H. Wilson, Cynthia's, K. has purchased the pediculous watch-smasher, Joe Ray. Joe is a bay gelding, with a record of 2:23.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY.

Wednesday, on the farm of Thos. H. Clay, Mr. W. G. Conner to Miss Phoebe Kimbrell. After the ceremony, the two started on a tour to the mountains of East Kentucky, driving a twenty-three-year-old horse to a buggy.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Swift, daughter of Charlie Swift, of Clark county, to Dabney Partrish, took place Wednesday. The trousseau was made in this city. The dress was cream satin and laced with pearls in the back and lace in front. It was trimmed very full with Duchess lace of dark coloring and value. The veil was illusion looped with diamond ornaments, and the flowers were crushed roses and lilies of the valley. The outfit is said to have been the finest ever gotten up in this city.

—Apples need to be kept as cool as possible without freezing; they will endure a little frost much better than a warm temperature; twenty-eight to thirty-four degrees is best; when it goes above forty degrees they don't keep and a temperature of fifty degrees speedily spoils them. Hence to keep set apples till late in May, they should be kept in a tight cellar and aired at night when the temperature is near below the freezing point. I have seen them kept in this way in excellent condition till the middle of June. —New York their shade trees in the way, and, as the sun walks, it will be the view of it, I suppose they could see it by fitting out all night and going to the beach to see the view of it for a free show. If old Vulcan's curtain up and a doorkeeper saw the danger, he would have to give money and more folks would turn than now for nothing. The comet would be a sight to see. The doorkeeper says that the whole universe is gold pieces, for it all depends on fire, and the sun is the center of the universe, so growing dim and world after world will drop into it until they have all been burned up. The doorkeeper flicker out like a dying candle and would all be in the dark if we had not the sun. The doorkeeper says we must be prepared for the worst, for a catastrophe will shortly happen and the world will be destroyed, and no three days of grace or wait, protest, Jesse! This shows that a fourth day of grace is not enough. Keep matches on the mantelpiece, your boots where you can find 'em, and have a good fire going. When a comet's tail around our earth, ring into us the sun for fuel.—Build in Astoria Conservation.

of Bird, Edgelyfield, S. C., and a friend of Gen. M. C. Butler. His wife, who survives him, came from one of the most influential families of South Carolina, and the mention of her name will recall two very exciting incidents that occurred in the past history of that State. The first was a duel between Tom Bird, brother, and Gen. Louis T. Wigfall, a suitor for her hand, in which Bird was killed at the first fire. This duel occurred in Edgelyfield at the court-house door. The second incident was a duel between Preston S. Brooks and General Wigfall, in which both principals were badly wounded. A short time after this second duel he was married to a Mr. Cross, and after his death she was married to Mr. Walla. She now lives in her present home, the pair of duelling pistols being in the hands of General Wigfall's son, Mr. M. B. Bird.

—A young man of Washington County, Oregon, named Harmes is quite popular here. He is a cowboy, and it is being built between Glencoe and Greenville, recently, a skid broke, letting the heavy timber fall on his leg. He was badly broken. He was reached the lines while he was retreating under the log, tied a chain around the timber, hitched a team to it, and was drawn off of him. He then crawled out of the log, and then the wagon, climbed on it, and then drove home.—Chicago Times.

The accident at the Rural Farm Station, which the bravery and heroism of a young man no doubt saved her husband's life from, from the ferocity of a Jersey buck, but the fact that the animal was so vicious and so dishonoring cattle. This operation, however, is practically painless, or at the most not more painful than the lancing of a boil or the removal of a teething child, an operation which is performed without any heinous sound or odor, and is a most effective means of averting all danger of that kind. The young horns, at first becoming conspicuously prominent under the skin, can be removed with the aid of a pair of sharp-pointed scissors, and the horn but the covering which protects its future growth, forms afterwards a scabrous and unsightly growth of the horn, that, in fact, when called the "horn," is a growth which lies under the skin, and is easily removed when it begins to raise a flap of the skin and cutting it off. It is done in a moment, a pair of pliers of tar over the cut protects the plaster wound, which soon them tidish, if they will get some seed oil and heat it boiling hot, and the fleeces all they can take, it will then fly up to their usual size and then fall down. After that, if you have a good thing to keep them from salting, and also to keep out the water, you do not wish to go to the trouble of mixing paint, you can heat the oil tie a rag to a stick and swab them as long as they will take oil. A brand new comb can be used, but a straw answer. If you do not wish to brush. It is quite a saving of time money to look after the woodwork on farm machinery. Alternate wetting and drying injures and causes the best wood to decay and lose its strength. It is a common thing to pay to keep the oil on, to oil for knots and on the neckyokes, whiffletrees and keep small tools on the farm that are much exposed.<sup>29</sup> that city a characteristic story of I. Webster. The statesman's father, a great lover of military musters, one day, when he was going, he gave him and his brother Ephraim a quarter of a dollar to spend as they pleased. At night he called the two boys to him, and asked them what they had done with the money. Daniel was very ready to tell he had bought cakes, cider, etc., and a good time. But Ephraim refused to tell how he had disposed of his money. His father insisted, and at last he reluctantly confessed that he had lent it to Daniel.

that once for getting out of the way of the cowboys, and when—when cutting up “dicks” in the and putting the fence in front of No stockman need be foolishly in respect. But I have never feared my own bull, and I never will—because I know the taste of a raw-hide at the nose. This will tame any bull, if a bull should never go, from his hide, and he will never come out of the hide, and his owner never goes to without it in his hand. The most for to play even when it is to teach a training should be begun when a mule, and it should be brought into bull then and taught to fear its own species, and it will be a good thing, for the bull is not naturally vicious; the made vicious because they are petted and spoiled and made playthings of by the cowboys. I have seen a cow-boy calf for which he has paid $1,000 the it sacrifice to put a rawhide on the brute, but the animal has no such for actions.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

In constructing fences of barbed wire or any kind of barbed fencing, a chain and simple and effective stretcher is one of the most important implements. There are many patented devices, costing the way from seventy-five cents to $1.00, but I have never seen any which so completely meets every requirement as a simple piece of chain, say a small link chain, and a small ring or more with a hook on the other end, and one end and a ring on the other. I tried the chain myself, and although I have used several of the patented stretchers, have never seen anything equal to it. It might not hold the barbed wire with the backhorn fencing it works

The Massachusetts voters knew Gen. Butler to be a Democrat, because they saw the cock in his eye.

The grand jury of Memphis has indicted a man who bet $4,000 on the result of the Tennessee election.

Silver spoons are now a legal tender in Massachusetts. They pass current where brass medals will not.

The President didn't interfere in the hanging of Brave Bear Wednesday. The President has had his dose from interfering with outside business lately.

The Courier-Journal has nominated McDonald and Cleveland, and the Democratic ticket for President, and Bob Ingersoll nominated Gen. Tecumseh Sherman and Bob Lincoln as the Republican nominees. Let's reverse the former and call it a "go."

Bob Ingersoll refused to take an oath on the bible the other day. He did not object to being sworn ordinarily, but did not desire to encourage that mode of swearing. Ordinarily, a man's oath ought to be golden, when given on a blue-backed spelling book, a dictionary, or a bible.

Senator Vest, nominates Cleveland, of New York, for President, and Joe McDonald, of Indiana, for Vice President. To quote his words: "I had rather vote for Joe McDonald for President than any man in the United States; but if Cleveland can keep the New York Democracy united, nothing can prevent his nomination and election. With him or Joe McDonald for President, and Carlisle for Speaker, the Democracy would hold the country for fifty years. It would mean the dawn of another and a new Democracy—a Democracy in full accord with the age and day in which we live, a progressive, liberal and broad-gauge policy."

We have met the enemy and we are his'n. We have made our remarks and we are now ready to listen to the gentleman from New York. We could have dug out, perhaps, and explained about New York, but when almost every state in the Union rose up and made certain statements yesterday, we found that the job of explaining this matter thoroughly would be wearisome and require a great deal of time.

We do not blame the Democracy for this. We are a little surprised however, and grieved. It will interfere with our wardrobe this winter. With an overcoat on Wyoming, a plug hat on Iowa, a pair of pantaloons on Pennsylvania and boots on the general result, it looks now as though we would probably go through the winter wrapped in a bed quilt and profound meditation. [Boomerang.]

Public opinion is becoming outraged to some extent in Bourbon county, inasmuch as a horrible murder was committed on Main Street, of this city, just sixteen days ago, and no examining trial has been held yet, against the alleged murderer—Hooker Stivers. This delay business is what works up the mob spirit which is becoming so prevalent in the State. There is at present a very ill spirit brewing, and there is no doubt but what the case against Stivers has been injured by the delay. It is claimed by his council that certain things can be proven by certain witnesses.

If this be true, the defence ought to bring said witnesses into Court and prove them, and give Stivers the full benefit of them, and not have the public clamoring and breathing bad forbodings. We repeat that the case against Stivers becomes injured each day the examination is postponed.

The time is fast approaching when water, as a beverage, will be counted among the relics of a past age in this country. Sixteen million barrels of beer sold in the United States in one year would indicate that the next generation might possibly speak of the "good old times when our fathers drank water."

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

"The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. READ PROOF BELOW FROM

COL. L. T. FOSTER.

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, May 10th, 1880. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly. He had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other, which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it; they ordered three bottles. I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, and used according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt limps as the first time I caught him as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors use the remaining two bottles who are now using it. Very Respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.

ON HUMAN FLESH.

Patten's Mills, N. Y., Feb. 21st, 1878. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing. I had tried many things but in vain. Your spavin cure put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since I was in a natural position. For a family liniment it exceeds anything we ever used. Yours truly, Rev. M. P. Bell, Pastor of M. E. Church, Patten's Mills, N. Y.

Send for illustrated circular giving positive proof. Price $1. All Druggists have it or can get it for you. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Proprietors, Enosburg Falls, Vt.
